There will be an interesting game of foot ball next Saturday afternoon between St. Marys and Emporium, at Athletic Park. Trouble will commence at 3:30. "Rube" Waddell, the famous Athletic pitcher will play "full back" for the St. Marys team. This promises to be the most interesting game of the season and will attract a large number of lovers of the sport. There will be a dance at the opera house during the evening.

A West Virginia Republican.

A. S. Zaner, of Morgantown, West Va., formerly a resident of this county, was an agreeable PRESS visitor on Wednesday. Mr. Zaner, who is in the employ of the Standard Oil Company, is emphatic in his declaration that West Virginia will give Roosevelt and Fairbanks a good safe majority. While the Republians of West Va., have great respect for candidate Davis they openly delare they cannot vote to destroy the prosperity of the country by voting against "the robber tariff" that has developed their state.

Right Thinking Men.

Mr. Josiah Howard, the Republican candidate for Assembly, the honorable business man, consistent christian gentleman, the employer of hundreds of laboring men, needs no flattering mention. The people know him as a true man, having the welfareof Cameron county always at heart and will elect him to represent Cameron county in the Assembly. Right-minded voters are thinking men and they think right when their homes are in danger from the passage of unwise legislation Hence they will support Josiah Howard, who is engaged in the upbuilding of Cameron county.

Pye—Wright.

MISS GRACE WINIFRED PYE, of this place, and MR. GEORGE A. WRIGHT, of Port Allegany were united in marriage at Rectory of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, at 11 o'clock this morning, Rev. J. M. Robertson performing the ceremony, in the presence of the immediate family and a few friends. The bride and groom depart on Buffalo Flyer this afternoon for Buffalo and other points. They will reside at Coudersport, where the groom is engaged in business. The bride is a model young lady and will make the husband of her choosing a faithful wife. The groom, who resided here last season, is highly spoken of by our friends. The PRESS wishes them well, feeling assured that the Wright Pye has been secured.

A Love Letter.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles, Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes, "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best Salve on earth, 25c at L. Taggart's Drug Store.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

ELLIS.

As announced in last week's PRESS, the remains of JOSEPH VICTOR ELLIS, aged 22 years, who was killed at Corry last Wednesday afternoon, while attempting to jump upon a freight train, arrived in Emporium last Thursday evening, accompanied by the grief-stricken father and Undertaker Rishell. The remains were taken to the home of the afflicted family on West Fourth St, were they remained until Saturday afternoon, when the funeral service took place, being conducted by Rev. O. S. Metzler, Pastor of First Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. L. B. Twichell, Pastor of First Baptist Church, and Rev. S. Ebersole, Pastor of Messiah Church, Sterling Run, who was an intimate friend of the family and their Pastor when they resided at Sterling Run. The funeral was largely attended and attested to the esteem in which the deceased was held by the friends of the family. From Kane, where the young man was employed as "snapper" in the glass works, a large number of friends came down to attend the funeral.

JOSEPH VICTOR ELLIS, was the third son of Mark and Martha Ellis; the second death from the family of ten children. He was a quiet, industrious young man and respected by all who knew him.

FLORAL OFFERINGS.

The floral offerings were very numerous and beautiful, from the Kane friends, Electric Assembly and brothers and sisters.

RELATIVES AND FRIENDS IN ATTENDANCE.

The following relatives and friends from out of town attended the funeral: Mr. Henry and Mr. George Kenworthy, father and brother of Mrs. Ellis, of Sterling Run; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Swallow, Elbon, Pa.; Mrs. L. Fusser; Miss Lillian and Mr. Lawrence Fusser, Mrs. K. Mischeau, Mrs. M. Rhyan, Miss Gertrude Thurstonsone, Kane; Mrs. James Hobson, Buckwalter.

THE ACCIDENT.

An eye witness describes the accident as follows: "While standing in front of the depot at Corry I noticed the young man when he attempted to jump onto the car, losing his hold and falling at the side of the track, both feet being crushed. The injured boy attempted to rise when the car struck him in the head. He was carried to a neighboring hotel and medical aid sent for. He died within a few minutes, not regaining consciousness."

MORRISEY.

Mrs. James Morrisey, aged 65 years, widow of the late James Morrisey, died yesterday morning, after a long illness. The good lady suffered from the effect of two strokes of paralysis, the fatal messenger calling her came and found her house in order, the lamps filled and burning. Mrs. Morrisey was a very estimable lady and a devout Catholic. The funeral takes blace from St. Marks Church on Saturday morning.

The Boy Protectionist.

I am like the boy who hired his sister to make his shirts. Some one said, "You could have taken them shirts to the factory and had them made and saved $2." "Yes," said the boy protectionist, "Sister Sally got a pretty fair price. She always pays me well for what I do for her. That two-dollar bill is still under the same roof with me, and if sickness or trouble or hard luck comes to any of our family that money is there in the house."

The free-trade boy would call his sister a tariff robber.

Eye Specialist.

Prof. W. H. Budine, the well known Eye Specialist, of Binghamton, N. Y., will be at R. H. Hirsch's jewelry store, Emporium, Pa, November 11th and 12th. If you can't see well or have headache don't fail to call and see Prof. Budine, as he guarantees to cure all such cases. Lenses ground and fitted in old frames. Eyes tested and examined free. All work guaranteed.

Woodsman Rolled.

Last Friday a woodsman while having a good time in town was "rolled" by a fellow woodsman and relieved of $65. We understand a warrant has been issued for arrest of the thief.

Baptist Church.

Rev. L. B. Twichell takes for his morning subject. "The World Turned Over". His evening subject will be "The powers of Purity pitted against Satan enlisted Self." Morning service at 10:30, evening service at 7 o'clock. Public cordially invited.

Art Exhibit, 200 Pictures, Nov. 9-12.

For the benefit of the public schools, to raise a fund by which the walls of the school rooms may be decorated permanently with pictures of the highest artistic merit, the Horace K. Turner art exhibit will be brought to Emporium on the above mentioned date.

This collection of pictures is made up of carbon-prints and color-prints, all reproductions of the great master paintings of the world.

The exhibit is loaned free to the schools and will be placed on exhibit in the old Presbyterian church building. An admission fee of 10 cents for children and 15 cents for adults, single admission, will be charged to view it.

The terms on which the exhibit is loaned are that the money raised by this means shall be expended for pictures purchased from this company. Prices of all pictures are stated and are guaranteed to be as low as the same work can be obtained elsewhere Subscriptions will also be solicited from our citizens to swell this fund. A committee is now operating toward this end.

We believe that all will see the desirability of having placed on the walls of our school rooms copies of the great paintings, The originals are visited by thousands at a great sacrifice. No one disputes the influence on character resulting from such a source. Unconsciously the mind is influenced by the grandeur of the painting.

At present the walls are destitute practically of any permanent decoration of this kind.

Any person so desiring may order for the decorations of their homes pictures similar to those in the exhibit at the time the exhibit is made, on which the school fund will realize a commission.

Prof. H. F. Stauffer on his visit last week spoke very enthusiastically of the success of the exhibit as used by him in Millville a year ago. We think our pupils and people should have the opportunity of seeing this beautiful collection and have acted accordingly.

Gregory—Heilman Nuptials.

A very pleasant and beautiful home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gregory, West Fourth street, yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Bertha Gregory and Mr. Frank Vernon Heilman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dr. R. P. Heilman. Promptly at the appointed time, Rev. O. S. Metzler, Pastor of First Methodist Episcopal Church took his station in the tastefully decorated parlor, when the Wedding March rendered by Miss Lillian Heilman, sister of groom, announced the approach of the bridal party, consisting of bride and groom, Miss Myrtle Gregory, sister of bride, bride's maid and Mr. Fred Heilman, brother of groom, best man—Mr. Ed. Shollenberg, of Montgomery, Pa., served as usher. The solemn vows being taken the assembled relatives and a few intimate friends heartily congratulated the happy twain.

The bride was dressed in a beautiful gown of white peaude crepe, trimmed with mechlin lace and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore the usual conventional suit.

An elegant bridal dinner was served by Caterer Laedlain, of Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Heilman left on the Buffalo Express for a short trip of two weeks to Poughkeepsie, . Hornellsville and other New York cities, after which they will locate at Portland Mills, where Mr. Heilman occupies a responsible position with the Elk Tanning Co. The happy couple are highly respected and take with them the best wishes of our citizens.

REPUBLICAN.

For President and Vice President,
ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.
(Mark 34.)

Robert Pitcairn,

HOW TO VOTE.

One glance at advance sample copies of the official ballot for the November election in Pennsylvanian is sufficient to convince politicians that an extraordinary blunder has been made in the new ballot law.

The last Legislature, passed what was known as the "Focht Ballot law," abolishing the old "party column" with a circle at its head for a "straight" party vote, grouping candidates' names under the title of the offices to which they aspire, but retaining the "straight" vote provisions by substituting a "party square" at the side at the left of the ballot for the abandoned "party circle" and column.

That worked very nicely last fall, the "grouping" system doing away with the old cumbersome "blanket ballot."

For Presidential years, however, the new law provides that the names of Presidential electors shall be printed in party groups or columns as they were under the old law, a single cross mark in the "square" at the head of each electoral column being a vote for the entire national ticket.

Apparently nobody realized until the sample ballots were seen that the lists of thirty-four Presidential electors for each party would appear almost exactly like the old party columns. As a matter of fact, they cover about three-fourths of the entire ballot overshadowing the little "groups" of State and local candidates at the bottom of the sheet and the new "party squares" at the left side.

The danger is at once apparent. The average voter, seeing the familiar old "party columns," as he believes, naturally will mark his cross at the top of it as he has been doing for ten years, and think he has voted for the whole party ticket. In fact he will have voted only for the Presidential electors.

At the head of this column may be found the way the ballot will start. If you make a mark in the place designated by an X as above shown, it will mean a vote for every candidate on the Republican ticket. It you just make a mark to the right of the names of Roosevelt & Fairbanks it will mean a vote for the Presidential ticket only. Mark your ballot as indicated above.

See to It.

The elective franchise, the privilege of deciding by our votes who shall make and execute our laws, is a privilege and responsibility that many fail to appreciate as such and the principle underlying this great privilege is seldom or never thought of by many. We are all very ready to find fault with poor and unjust laws or the failure of good laws to accomplish the good for which they were enacted, losing sight of the fact that we as individuals are largely responsible for the very thing thing that we censure.

The vote of any one man counts for as much as the vote of any other man, so that if a majority of those who vote give the subject careful and serious thought, and are influenced to a decision by the merit of the candidate for whom they vote, it results not only in good laws but also in a conscientious enforcement of same; while, if we are influenced in our choice by sordid motive, by pecuniary gain or the prospect of it, it often results in the election to office of men who are in no way qualified to represent the best interests of the community from which they are elected.

The active interest that Mr. Josiah Howard has always taken, both in supporting and in originating movements that had for advancement of the good interests of the people and his constant and consistent effort, both by precept and example, to uplift the moral standard of the community, is surely a convincing reason why he should receive the aid and votes of the people. A vote for Josiah Howard is a vote for the advancement of the interests of the people, and an aggressive effort toward the promotion of the material and moral welfare of the whole county.

Some More Smoke.

The East Emporium Independent has been making a strained effort in its recent issues to convince eight hundred and twenty-one voters that they have been treated with ignominy and their votes cast aside as of no consequence. One would suppose from the language of the Independent that the Legislature had thrown out svery vote that was cast for Mr. Blumle two years ago. As a matter of fact the number of votes thrown out as illegal was one hundred and ninety-seven, reducing Mr. Blumle's legal vote to six hundred and twenty-four, a minority of all the legal votes cast. The will of these six hundred and twenty-four legal voters was trampled upon only in the manner and sense in which the will of any minority is set aside.

What Has Mr. Blumle Done?

From the very first it has been evident that it has been the purpose of the Independent to becloud the real issues of the legislative campaign by an attempt to keep the air filled with "vindication" smoke. This policy has been a mistaken one, for the attempt to awaken enthusiasm on behalf of "vindicating" Mr. Blumle has been a most dismal failure. Aside from the stated outcries of the Independent itself, there is no audible demand that Mr. Blumle shall be elected as a mark of vindication. The question before the voters is one that concerns the relative merits of the candidates themselves and of the principles for which they stand. No intelligent person will wish to waste his time in listening to appeals for "vindication" until it has first been made plain to him that Mr. Blumle's qualifications and record stamp him as the man who ought to be elected. One would naturally expect to find Mr. Blumle's supporters pointing with pride to his record at Harrisburg and dwelling fondly upon the particulars of it; but this natural expectation has not been met. Is there something significant in the fact that Mr. Blumle and his supporters have maintained such a profound silence regarding his legislative record? A correspondent of the PRESS has intimated that when a certain measure affecting the whiskey interests was before the House, Mr. Blumle was recorded as "absent, not voting." An appeal to the records can easily settle the matter. Why should not the Independent devote some of its space in these closing days of the campaign to the recital of the several acts which make up Mr. Blumle's legislative record? If his record is not one to be ashamed of, why should the Independent withhold it from the people? If it is one to be ashamed of, then under no circumstances can a "vindication" cry be in order. If Mr. Blumle's record be a mere zero, it may be multiplied by a thousand "vindication" cries, and the product will still be zero. That his record has been anything more than zero does not appear from any information that the Independent has seen fit to impart to its readers. The people would really like to know what Mr. Blumle has done, or not done, as legislator. Will the Independent meet this reasonable demand?

Mr. Blumle acted as Representative for Cameron county two terms, four years in all, and drew about four thousand dollars from the state as pay for salary, traveling expenses, etc., for the two sessions.

During the first term no one heard what he did. In the last session he presented his "Baby bill" and made speeches for it.

Some unimportant bills he voted for but ordinarily he "dodged" bills because they were Republican or because they were antagonistic to his own business.

BRIEF MENTION.

Have you read that very interesting magazine, The Smart Set?

Real enjoyment is had when reading that clever magazine, The Smart Set.

A good pastry cook can secure a permanent position by applying at New Warner at once.

For the next two weeks you can get six pictures taken for 10c in the vacant room next to Capt. Johnson's office.

Will the Independent explain the "Democratic belief" as to the Philippines. We declare we fail to remember your last declaration, or Parker's.

Don't worry Brother Hockley, the voters will know, when the time comes, how to spell Ox, and plant it in the right hand box opposite Republican, on the extreme left of the ballot.

"Home Rule" did you say Mr. Hockley? That is just what the legal voters of Cameron county demand and propose having in the future. No more padded registry and "stay over night voters."

The Elk Tanning Company's plant at Westfield has been shut down indefinitely. Superintenden Eick has been ordered to Emporium; Mr. Fred Eick has gone to Tioga, and Mr. Charles Eick has accepted a position at the Hoytville tannery.—Tiogo Agitator.

WANTED—A good reliable man, with horse and rig preferred, for Emporium and surrounding towns to distribute circulars, samples, and tack signs, either in connection with present work, or give entire time. No money required. A good opportunity for a hustler. Address Atoz Printing Co., Dept. 6 South Whitley, Indiana.

The Independent gives the following counsel to voters: "Do not ask for assistance, but take all the money you can get." Last week the Independent spoke in a deprecating way of campaign speeches, intimating it knows of other methods that are more potent. This counsel to voters shows plainly what these potent methods are which the Independent praises. If bribe-giving or taking is a criminal offense, what shall we say of an utterance such as this, deliberately inciting to the taking of a bribe?

The Independent has much to say recently relative to the State paying the taxes on their lands. What is the use in talking such rot, Hockley. Cameron county owds one solid block of land in Emporium. Can the Borough authorities collect taxes from the county? See! It would be more to your credit and the benefit of the entire county, the over-taxed farmer as well as the mechanic, were you to devote at least a fraction of your time to the assessment of lands, thereby lightening the burdens. Try it once.

An exchange gives this excellent advice to hunters: Gunners who go out to hunt the frisky squirrel or rabbit or the timid pheasant should be careful how they disobey the trespass notices posted on the properties. They should also be careful about shooting. Few land owners would refuse permission to hunt on his premises if he were asked, and by getting permission a hunter will know that he is safe from having the trespass law enforced on him, and then the property owner will know some one is hunting in his woods and will warn his family to stay in doors until the danger is passed.

The Calamity Howl.

According to General Manager Hockley, our county is sure to dwindle and die as soon as the Howards finish their timber, which will be in about three years.

There is one man in particular who for ten years has preached the opposite and that man is Mr. Josiah Howard, our next Representative in the Legislature. Mr. Howard not only believes in a big and bright future for our county but is backing up his belief not only by continued purchases of farm lands and building permanent improvements, but by investing money in new business enterprises, and our large payrolls and increased population make it look as though some of the bright future were already here.

No, Mr. Hockley we are not dying and not only Mr. Howard, but the whole Republican party, stand for Expansion, Progress and Growth.

"The man who believes that old things were best, belongs in paralyzed China, but he who thinks that to-day is the best God ever made and that to-morrow will be better belongs in the midst of life on this virile, progressive Western Continent."—Selah.

The Japanese have a race of silkworms to which they apply a name the equivalent of "the beggar." These worms feed greedily upon withered or otherwise spoiled leaves, which one of the self respecting race of silkworms wouldn't touch. The international road over the Grand St. Bernard Pass was opened on August 25, 1904. Italy has been some 12 years building this road, which marks the route followed by Napoleon in 1800.

Only the very rich have fences around their farms in Japan. The Japanese do not like to spare the square feet a fence would take up. If a border around a field is necessary, it is made of mulberry trees, the leaves of which are good for silkworms. It is said that 190,000 acres that would otherwise be taken up with fences are thus used.

It is estimated that 5,000 cases of preventable typhoid fever have occurred in Philadelphia within a year, 10 per cent of which resulted in death. By figuring the money value of each life lost at $1,000 and computing the expenses and loss of time it is found that the total charge against this disease in this one city for the period of a year is over $1,550,000.

An expert statistician figures that there are to-day some 5,000,000 of adult males that is, one out of every three, in this country who carry life insurance, outside of the fraternal orders and the like. There were, at the end of last year, nearly 19,000,000 policies in force. There are only a little more than twice as many adult males to-day as there were 40 years ago.

In spite of the fact that man is not an instinctive swimmer, as is the case with most of the lower animals, he excels all of the latter in equatic endurance. It is reported that, in attempting to swim the English channel recently, a man covered 30 miles before he succumbed to exhaustion. The only land animals that are known to be able to approximate such a feat are the bear, horse and deer.

Most of our maps of Asia are drawn to a small scale, and, on such maps, the Japanese archipelago fills little space. But she is larger than England and more populous. She has 6,000,000 more people than France. She sent six armies over sea within six months, every one of which was as big as either army that met at Waterloo. She has sent to Manchuria twice as many soldiers in six months as England sent to South Africa in two years.

The heavy falling-off in exports of wheat from the United States since the 1903 harvest has probably been the most unexpected and surprising occurrence of equal importance in the foreign grain trade of the United States in many years. And there have been few years, if any, when such an unanticipated shortage of American wheat in the world's markets would not have produced serious results. The United Kingdom, as is well known, is the heaviest importer of wheat and flour in the world.

Abyssinia is being provided with the telephone—another advance, surely, of civilization. Nearly 800 miles of wire have been put up, and 1,000 more are in process of construction. It would seem, however, that the contractor who is doing the work for the Abyssinian government has had to encounter unusual difficulties. Tropical rains wash out the poles, white ants eat away the parts in the ground, and when iron poles are substituted for wood the natives steal them to make tools of. Monkeys find the wire delightful swings.

NEGRO AND DEMOCRATS.

Policy of Dealing with Colored Voters Which Will Never Accomplish Anything.

The democratic campaign this year is full of inconsistencies and contradictions. The candidate for president is a tariff reformer of advanced ideas; the candidate for vice president is a tariff beneficiary and would deal with the tariff with tender gentleness. The democrats criticise the present administration for not having done more to regulate and curb trusts. While the Wall street interests, represented by Belmont, are active in Mr. Parker's support. Mr. Parker, who voted twice for Mr. Bryan on a free silver platform, has declared strongly for the gold standard, and Mr. Bryan, who has not changed his views on the money question, is supporting him, says the independent Indianapolis News.

And Mr. Hornaday, in his letter from Baltimore, pointed out another curious contradiction in democratic methods. Maryland is one of the states the democrats must carry. In that state for many years Senator Gorman has been the democratic boss. But there has been a growth of republican sentiment in the state, and in order to strengthen the hold of the democrats, laws have been passed practically disfranchising a large proportion of the negroes. The laws have been made different for different parts of the state, so as still more to confuse the negro voter. Further, a "Jim Crow" law has been passed, affecting railway travel. Moreover, as our correspondent reports, there are evidences of an effort to stir up race feeling, in the hope of winning white votes against the party that believes in fair play for the negro.

That is the policy of dealing with the negro in the state of Maryland, where Gorman is the controlling force in democratic politics. But at the same time the democratic managers at national headquarters, of whom Mr. Gorman is one, are putting forth unusual efforts to win negro votes in the doubtful northern states. A special bureau for propagandist work among the negroes has been established in New York, though not in immediate connection with national headquarters, and emissaries are being sent to various states in the hope of winning negro votes for Parker. Indiana is one of the states where it is hoped to "influence" negroes to turn away from Roosevelt. It is even hinted that the appearance of George L. Knox as an indpendent candidate for congress in this district may possible be traced to the activity of the negro democratic bureau.

It is perfectly proper, of course, for the democratic managers to seek in all legitimate ways to win negroes to their party. But we do not believe that they can influence any considerable number of them in northern states, while in the south they are denying them all political rights. So long as negroes in most of the southern states cannot vote at all because of laws made by democrats it is absurd to suppose that many negroes in the north are going to vote for a democratic candidate for president, or a democratic or "independent" candidate for congress.—Indianapolis News (Ind.).

☞Only a few weeks ago, or, to be exact, at the democratic national convention, we heard much of the "passing of Bryan." The only thing in the corpse line that appears to equal Bryan in activity is the Mad Mullah.—Indianapolis Star.

☞Four years ago the issue was the full dinner pail. This year the issue at the south is the Booker Washington luncheon. In the course of time we may develop a pie-for-breakfast party.—Chicago Chronicle.

☞In spite of all the bloodthirst and militarism of which his opponents so delight in telling, President Theodore Roosevelt, a strenuous American, is the only ruler of a nation to whom the peace congress thinks it of any use to appeal. That is one of the striking facts of the campaign on which timorous voters may dwell with profit.—Boston Transcript.

HIS UNIFORM A DISGRACE?

Fanatical Attacks Upon Roosevelt Because of Spanish War Record.

By the eastern papers Roosevelt continues to be held up to ridicule, contempt, abuse, scorn, and laughter in the uniform of an American soldier, as if apparently that garb were the very livery of the devil, says the Chicago Tribune.

That Roosevelt should be held in disesteem simply because he went to the front in the Spanish war is the result of a peculiar psychological process which came about thus:

The "anti-imperialists" of the Atlantic coast are rabid in their earnestness. They feel that the acquisition of the Philippines and Porto Rico was the great American crime of last century. The Spanish war brought the Philippines and Porto Rico under our flag. The Spanish war, therefore, was an unspeakable crime. Naturally, if not logically, going a step further, everybody who went to the Spanish war was a criminal. Roosevelt went to the Spanish war. He was a criminal, and his uniform is as disgraceful to him as the stripes to a convict.

It has been mental processes such as these which have fostered in the minds of the eastern editors the delusion that Roosevelt can be successfully damned by picturing him in an American uniform. And the eastern editors have been subject to such mental processes because they do too much cloister work. They go into their editorial sanctums, lock the door, and think out the problems of the universe. They do not get into touch with the crowds in the streets. They do not understand the common people. Perhaps the editors are far ahead of their times. Or perhaps they are off on a sidetrack, or in a back water. Wherever they are, they are not with their times, and they do not influence current thought.

A future age may call them seers, but this age calls them cranks.

If these editors would come down off Mount Sinai they would possess more common sense and more influence. They would cease to be merely the Brahmins of a small, self-centered, and intensely self-satisfied intellectual caste. They would get into the current of to-day's life. That would be good for them—and would not hurt the country, appreciably.

TO QUIET FEARS IN PANAMA.

SECRETARY TAFT IS ORDERED TO GO TO THE ISTHMUS.

The Secretary of War Has Been Delegated to Assure the Panama Government of the Good Intentions of the United States.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The following letter has been sent by the president to the secretary of war after a conference with the secretary of state and the secretary of war in respect to the conditions in Panama:

"Sir—By executive order of May 9, 1904, I placed under your immediate supervision the work of the isthmian canal commission, both in the construction of the canal and in the exercise of such governmental powers as it seemed necessary for the United States to exercise under the treaty with the republic of Panama in the canal strip. There is ground for believing that in the execution of the rights conferred by the treaty the people of Panama have been unduly alarmed at the effect of the establishment of a government in the canal strip by the commission. Apparently they fear lest the effect be to create out of part of their territory a competing and independent community which shall injuriously affect their business, reduce their revenues and diminish their prestige as a nation.

"The United States is about to confer on the people of the state of Panama a very great benefit by the expenditure of millions of dollars in the construction of the canal. But this fact must not blind us to the importance of so exercising the authority given us under the treaty with Panama as to avoid creating any suspicion, however unfounded, of our intentions as to the future. We have not the slightest intention of establishing an independent colony in the middle of the state of Panama, or of exercising any greater governmental functions than are necessary to enable us to construct, maintain and operate the canal, under the rights given us by the treaty. Least of all do we desire to interfere with the business and prosperity of the people of Panama.

"However far a just construction of the treaty might enable us to go, did the exigencies of the case require it, in asserting the equivalent of sovereignty over the canal strip, it is our full intention that the rights which we exercise shall be exercised with all proper care for the honor and interests of the people of Panama. The exercise of such powers as are given us by the treaty within the geographical boundaries of the republic of Panama may easily, if a real sympathy for both the present and future welfare of the people of Panama is not shown, create distrust of the American government.

"I have concluded that it will be of great advantage if you can visit the isthmus of Panama in person and hold a conference with the president and other governmental authorities of the republic of Panama. You are authorized in doing this to take with you such persons as you desire, familiar with the conditions in the isthmus, who may aid you with their counsel. The earlier you are able to make this visit the better. You will advise the president of the republic what the policy of this government is to be and assure him that it is not the purpose of the United States to take advantage of the rights conferred upon it by the treaty to interfere with the welfare and prosperity of the state of Panama or of the cities of Colon and Panama. You will make due report of the result of your visit on your return. Very truly yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Senor Obaldia, minister of Panama to the United States, held a conference with the secretary of state and secretary of war subsequent to the receipt of this letter, and the secretary of war invited the minister to accompany him on his trip to Panama. It is impossible to say exactly when the secretary of war can leave for Panama, but probably on November 14.

Judge Magoon, the law officer of the canal commission and of the bureau of insular affairs, who has been of much assistance in framing regulations for the canal strip, also will be of the party. The members of the senate and house committees dealing with isthmian affairs will be invited.

"COLONIZATION" FRAUDS.

Trial of Two New Yorkers Accused of a Serious Offense Begins.

New York, Oct. 20.—Richard Van Cott, son of the postmaster of New York, and republican candidate for the assembly in the Fifth district, and Bankson McAvoy, cashier in the general postoffice, a republican worker in the Fifth district, were arraigned yesterday on a charge of having colonized in the district non-resident citizens, with the purpose of voting them at the coming election. Benjamin D. Levy, who is said to have made a confession relative to the case, was a witness.

Slips bearing the addresses of houses where the men are alleged to lodge were identified by Levy as papers given to him by Van Cott. Levy said the bargain between him and McAvoy about procuring men was: "One dollar for registration, six weeks' board and a couple of dollars for the vote on election day."

Marines Guard a Shipyard.

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—In compliance with an order received at the League Island navy yard from Washington a detail of marines was sent yesterday to Cramp's shipyard to guard the armored cruiser Pennsylvania, which is receiving the finishing touches preparatory to a builder's trial. On the ways are the cruiser Tennessee and the battleships Idaho and Mississippi. With the regularly detailed watchers employed by the Cramp Co. the marines will pay special attention to the Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

During the Year Ended June 30, 1904, 3,787 Lives Were Lost and 51,343 Persons Injured in America.

Washington, Oct. 19.—A report issued by the inter-state commerce commission shows that the total number of casualties to persons on railroads in the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, was 55,130, comprising 3,787 killed and 51,343 injured. This shows a large increase.

The total number of collisions and derailments was 11,291, involving $9,383,077 of damage to cars, engines and roadway. This is an increase of 648 collisions and derailments.

The casualties were an increase of 233 killed and of 5,366 injured over the preceding year. Four hundred and twenty of those killed were passengers and 3,367 railroad employes, and of those injured 8,077 were passengers and 43,266 railroad employes. Included in these figures are the statistics for the last three months of the year, which show a total of 677 killed and 11,418 injured, a decrease from the preceding quarter.

These figures do not include casualties at highway crossings, to trespassers or persons walking along the track, in shops remote from the railroad or to employes not actually on duty; nor trifling accidents to employes which did not prevent them from performing their accustomed service for more than three days in the aggregate, during the ten days immediately following the accidents.

The report says: "As the accident bulletins are issued to furnish the public with facts, this exhibit of the dangers of railroad travel—an exhibit which the most conservative must agree should be termed alarming—will not be made the subject of comment in this place."

MAJOR DELMAR WON GOLD CUP.

The Smathers Horse Defeated Lou Dillon at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 19.—C. K. G. Billings' Lou Dillon, the champion trotting mare, went down to defeat yesterday before Major Delmar, owned by E. E. Smathers, in the third and last contest for the Memphis gold cup, the feature race of the opening day of the fourth annual meeting of the Memphis Trotting association. After sustaining a terrific pace to the three-quarters pole in the first heat of the contest, it was apparent that the mare was in bad condition and she was pulled up, Major Delmar winning in a jog.

Despite a critical examination by veterinary surgeons who pronounced the mare affected by an ailment known to horsemen as the "thumps," Lou Dillon was again brought out on the track by Mr. Billings and against the advice of the veterinarians, he announced that, as a matter of form, he would start the mare in the second heat. Major Delmar rounded the course in easy time, Lou Dillon following at a slow trot. Mr. Smathers, representing the New York Driving club, becomes the permanent owner of the cup.

CLAIMED IT IS A FRAUD.

Chicago Police Raided the Office of a Home for Epileptics.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The office of a home for epileptics was raided by the police yesterday. The books of the institution and the liveries of women solicitors were seized.

The raid was the result of an investigation made by Secretary Egan, of the state board of health, who notified Chief of Police O'Neill, charging that the home was a fraud.

The home, which is supposed to be in Blue Island, employs 12 women solicitors. In making their rounds they dress in green and white gowns cut after the fashion of the costume of Catholic Sisters of Charity.

The "home" has been in operation two years and no doubt of its genuineness ever was made public until a pseudo nun made charges against the institution. The 12 solicitors are said to collect from $150 to $200 a day.

Riot in an Irish Town.

Cork, Oct. 19.—A serious conflict between sympathizers with those who were arrested for participation in the eviction riots at Fellsport on October 12 and the police occurred at the hearing of the case at the Rivertown court house Tuesday. Over 20 people were injured in the disturbance, some of them being seriously hurt. When the Fellsport defendants were arraigned, the crowd in attendance, unable to secure admission to the court room, attacked the police. Over 100 of the latter formed up to maintain order and charged with their batons, striking right and left and dispersing the crowd.

Weinseimer Is Convicted.

New York, Oct. 19.—The jury in the case of Philip Weinseimer, ex-president of the Building Trades Alliance, on trial for extortion, returned a verdict of guilty shortly before midnight last night. He was remanded to the Tombs until October 28, when sentence will be pronounced. Weinseimer has been on trial for more than a week in the court of special sessions.

Rubber Tire Factory Burned.

New York, Oct. 19.—Fire last night destroyed the works of the Anchor Rubber Tire Co. at Setauket, Long Island. The loss is estimated at $200,000, most of which was upon machinery and finished and unfinished stock.

Election Officers Sentenced for Fraud.

Havana, Oct. 19.—A dispatch to La Lucha says that all five members of the Santiago provincial election returning board have been sentenced to 14 years and eight months' imprisonment for falsifying returns in order to seat several congressmen belonging to the moderate coalition. Leaders of the moderates in congress will appeal against the sentence to the supreme court. They claim that the moderate candidates in the province of Santiago had sufficient votes to elect them, apart from the questions of fraud.

ATTACKS DARWIN THEORY.

Holland Professor Electrifies Congress of Arts and Science by Denouncing Popular Idea.

Combating the theory of Darwin as to the origin of species and advancing a theory of his own which revolutionizes all ideas of biologists and phyologists, Prof. Hugo De Vries, professor of botany in the University of Amsterdam, Holland, electrified 350 members of the congress of arts and science who gathered at the meeting of the section of phylogony in convention hall at St. Louis recently.

His address, which gave for the first time to the scientific world in detail the results of a lifetime research, roused immediate interest, and following the eminent European, Prof. Charles O. Whitman, of the University of Chicago, took instant objection to his theories. President David Starr Jordan, the most noted of the defenders of Darwinism, and biologists from all sections of the world participated in the hot debate which followed.

Prof. De Vries does not wholly discredit Darwin. On the contrary, he rather emphasizes some of the main essentials of that renowned scientist, but in such a manner that if the thought of the Hollander becomes recognized as a basic principle of evolution Darwin must necessarily be relegated to the ranks of those who for a time have occupied the stage of action.

In theoretical language the thought of Prof. De Vries is in this strain: Natural selection is only a seine and is no force of nature, no direct force of nature as has so often been asserted. Artificial selection consists of two main principles, called variety-testing and racial improvement. Species as we see them in nature fluctuate within fixed limits which are not seen to be transgressed.

Silent Wedding Party.

Every member of the wedding party being a deaf-mute, the wedding of Miss Emma Blanche Warden, of Harrisburg, Pa., and James Ladd, of Bingham Center, Potter county, was an unusual one. The ceremony was conducted at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Warden. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. F. C. Smielau, also of Williamsport. The Episcopalian ritual was followed, the sign language being used. The attendants were classmates of the bridal couple at the Mount Airy seminary.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

When the Back Aches and Bladder Troubles Set In, Get at the Cause.

Don't make the mistake of believing backache and bladder ills to be local ailments. Get at the cause and cure the kidneys. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, which have cured thousands.

Capt. S. D. Hunter, of Engine No. 14, Pittsburg, Pa., Fire Department, and residing at 2729 Wylie Ave., says:

"It was three years ago that I used Doan's Kidney Pills for an attack of kidney trouble that was mostly backache, and they fixed me up fine. There is no mistake about that, and if I should ever be troubled again, I would get them first thing, as I know what they are."

CARNEGIE MEDALS FOR HEROES.

The Commission Adopts Rules to Limit the Awards.

Pittsburg, Oct. 20.—At a meeting yesterday of the Carnegie hero fund commission it was decided that no awards of medals or benefits will be made by the Carnegie hero fund commission before the next meeting of the commission, which has been fixed for January 18, 1905. At that time the executive committee of the organization is expected to report upon the 59 cases now under consideration, and medals and benefits will probably be awarded at the coming meeting. The report of the organization committee follows:

"The scope of the fund shall be confined within the following limitations:

"First—To acts on which conclusive evidence may be obtained showing that the person performing the act voluntarily risked his own life in saving or attempting to save the life of a fellow being, or who voluntarily has sacrificed himself in an heroic manner for the benefit of others.

"Second—Such acts must have been performed by persons, the nature of whose duties in following their regular vocation does not necessarily require them to perform such acts.

"Third—Such acts must have been performed in the United States, Canada, or the colony of Newfoundland and the waters thereof.

"Fourth—Such acts must have been performed on or after April 15, 1904.

"Fifth—Heroic acts may be brought to the attention of the commission by direct application or through the public press."

The report of the financial committee showed that the $5,000,000 worth of 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds of the United States Steel Corporation were registered in the name of the commission on May 13 last. About $50,000 interest has already accrued on these bonds.

A special resolution was passed by the commission authorizing the executive committee in its investigation of all cases to secure such representatives to aid them as will be necessary in finding out the minutest details concerning every alleged act of heroism.

The medal of honor to be selected by the commission will probably be of bronze or silver. It is not the desire of the commission to have gold medals, on account of their intrinsic value. It is argued that the medal is a symbol to commemorate the deed and if it is of small value it will be prized all the more and be kept by the recipient.

SUFFERED GREAT HARDSHIPS.

Crew of a Wrecked Steame. Were Rescued from Islands Off the Coast of Labrador.

North Sydney, C. B., Oct. 20.—After subsisting on scant rations for several weeks, during which time they suffered intensely from the cold, the 11 survivors of the stranded steamer Viking have been picked up from otherwise uninhabited islands off the coast of Labrador by the tug Douglas H. Thomas, which had been sent to their relief. They were taken to the Hudson Bay Co.'s post at Rigolet and the tug returned here yesterday. When the men were rescued their rations had dwindled to an insignificant amount of salt pork, flour and water, and their condition was desperate.

The Viking with a full cargo of provisions and supplies for a lumber concern at Grand River, Hamilton Inlet, was wrecked at Shag Rock, Gross Water Bay, last August. Soon after a gale swept the wreck, carrying away the greater part of her stores and forcing the crew to abandon her. The captain and two of the crew sought refuge on a small island to the windward of the wreck, while the other eight men reached an island to the leeward. A vessel, formerly sent to bring back the Viking's crew, was also wrecked. The Viking is a total loss.

GEN. RUGGLES DIES.

Another Man Who Took a Prominent Part in the Civil War Has Passed Away.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Gen. George D. Ruggles, retired, for several years governor of the soldiers' home in this city, died here last night.

Gen. Ruggles was a native of New York and a graduate of West Point, but at the outbreak of the civil war entered the volunteer army and became adjutant general of a brigade from Pennsylvania, later taking a leading part in organizing the Army of the Potomac. His first battle was at Ball's Bluff.

He won the confidence of the commanders of the Army of the Potomac and became adjutant general and chief of staff to Gen. Pope. When McClellan took command Gen. Ruggles was assistant adjutant general with practically all the duties of the superior officer to perform. He participated in the battles of Bull Run, Antietam and Chancellorsville. After the battle of Gettysburg he became adjutant general of Meade's army. In 1893 Gen. Ruggles was appointed adjutant general of the army, retiring for age just prior to the Spanish-American war.

Miners Struck.

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 20.—Miners at a number of mines in the Kanawha field have quit work on the refusal of operators to take down notices instructing those who hire men at mines not to discriminate between union and non-union men.

A Gift of $100,000 to an Asylum.

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 20.—A citizen of Charleston has made a gift of $100,000 to the Charleston orphan house, one of the oldest and best known orphan asylums in the country. The gift was made as a memorial to the late Jefferson Bennett, of this city, and the donor prefers that his identity should not be made known. It is accepted, however, that the gift was made by A. B. Murray, president of the Bennett rice mills, who was reared at the orphan house and was adopted into the family of Mr. Bennett when a youth.

INTRIGUE ENDED IN MURDER.

Woman Was Assaulted by a Son of Her Alleged Paramour.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Nellie Thomason, wife of a former prominent real estate dealer in this city, is dead at her home in Lacon, as the result of injuries received in a sensational encounter with Richard and Jennie Higgins, son and daughter of John G. Higgins, a member of the board of supervisors of Peoria county and prominent in republican politics. Young Higgins is 24 years old and his sister is 20. They intercepted a letter written to Higgins, sr., by Mrs. Thomason, in which she asked the older Higgins to meet her in the depot of the Rock Island railroad in this city.

Higgins was at St. Louis and the son opened the letter. The missive asked Higgins to be in the waiting room. When Mrs. Thomason arrived she was confronted by young Higgins and his sister. What took place is a mystery, as only the three and an uncle of Higgins were present. Some time later, however, the woman asked A. C. Brant, the ticket agent, to assist her to a train. He did so and when she was gone, discovered the floor of the waiting room covered with blood. The woman lingered in great agony at her home in Lacon until she died.

Higgins is under arrest on a warrant charging him with murder. The case has created a sensation. Mrs. Thomason had been in a comatose condition since Wednesday night, rallying enough at intervals to speak a word or two. Her lip was severed, both eyes were blackened, one shoulder was dislocated and her back was covered with bruises. She was also suffering from internal injuries.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

More Activity Is Noted in Nearly Every Branch of Manufacturing.

New York, Oct. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Trade reports are more encouraging each week, while the feeling of optimism regarding the future is becoming general. With its customary disposition to discount commercial prosperity, Wall street has lifted the average price of the 60 most active railway shares above par for the first time since May of last year. Manufacturing plants steadily increase output, a particularly gratifying feature of the week being the large tonnage of steel purchased by the railways, and the advanced prices for pig iron suggest that the depression in that industry has run its course.

Textile mills are doing more work, even the New England cotton centers reporting less procrastination among buyers, which is the more noteworthy because the new contracts were placed at a time when the raw material was declining. Shipyards are more fully engaged, and structural work begins to assume normal proportions.

Jobbing and wholesale trade in spring goods makes a better comparison with last year's volume and current retail distribution of merchandise is increasing. Payments are still somewhat irregular, yet there are comparatively few complaints.

Failures this week numbered 215 in the United States, against 279 last year, and 39 in Canada, compared with 26 a year ago.

SLEUTHS AND ROBBERS CLASH.

Two Detectives and One Suspect Were Killed.

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—In a desperate battle Friday between five detectives and three suspects whom they were endeavoring to arrest, two detectives were killed and one seriously injured and one of the suspects was killed and two others badly wounded.

The fight occurred in the front room of a house on Pine street and the men whom the detectives sought to arrest are suspected of being implicated in a train robbery at Centralia, Ill., a few weeks ago.

The house had been under police surveillance for several days, but yesterday was the first time that any of the suspects were seen to enter or leave.

Blair made a statement that he, Rose and others had been seated in the room when the door was opened and the detectives entered.

Blair, noting the fact that the detectives had revolvers drawn, pulled his own gun and emptied it into the faces of the invaders.

He shot six times without a pause. There were no misfires and so close were the suspects and detectives that the powder from the revolvers burned their clothes.

Disastrous Caveins.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 22.—Mine caveins at Duryea yesterday caused a rise in the Lackawanna river. The flood poured into the workings of the Halstead mine and damaged much surface near the Polish Catholic church. A score of houses also suffered damage. The mine was flooded during the strike of 1902 from similar causes and the water had just been pumped out preparatory to getting the mine ready to operate. It may now be wholly abandoned, which will mean the loss of over $100,000 to the Lackawanna Co.

Decided Against the Miners.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 22.—In the grievance of the miners of the Northern Anthracite Coal Co., of Bernice, Sullivan county, Umpire Wright yesterday decided that the company was not a party to the agreement settling the 1902 strike and that the miners have no cause for complaint. The miners claimed pay under the sliding scale, which the company refused to pay.

A Lather's Crime.

Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Joseph G. Riley, a lather, was arrested here Friday, charged with murderously assaulting his wife at their home in this city Thursday night. Riley said he had a dispute with his wife over money matters. He first attacked her with his fists, knocking her down. Then he stripped off her clothing and whipped her with the butt end of a heavy whip into insensibility. He then thrust a hot iron into her mouth, burning away part of the tongue. Riley also applied the iron to her body and kicked the unconscious woman.

"We ask that sober and sensible men compare the workings of the present tarifi law and the conditions which obtain under it, with the workings of the preceding tariff law of 1894 and the conditions which that tariff of 1894 helped to bring about."—President Roosevelt's speech accepting 1904 nomination.

"Laying aside the fact that trusts are organized under English free trade as well as German, Austrian, and American protection, it is susceptible of absolute demonstration that American free trade would operate in the interests of trusts and against the interest of American labor-"—Hon E. L. Hamilton, in Congress, April 14, 1904.

"That whenever the need arises there should be a readjustment of the tariff schedules is undoubted; but such changes can with safety be made only by those whose devotion to the principle of a protective tariff is beyond question, for otherwise the charges would amount not to readjustment but to repeal. The readjustment when made must maintain and not destroy the protective principle."—President Roosevelt's speech accepting 1904 nomination.

"The 3,000,000 of men who went out of employment with the revision of the tariff by the Democratic party found employment in the enactment of the Dingley law by the Republican party, and a million and a half have been added to those who have employment in the industries of the country."—Hon. Mr. Bryan on the Issues.

In the latest number of the Saturday Evening Post Mr. Bryan gives his reasons for supporting Parker and Davis in the present campaign. He begins by pointing out that Judge Parker's declaration concerning the gold standard is binding only upon Judge Parker himself and not upon the Democratic party. This assurance may be pleasing to the free silver Democrats but it will not hasten the return of gold Democrats to the party fold. Mr. Bryan goes on to discuss the issues on which he and Judge Parker are agreed, discussing militarism, imperialism and the race question. Mr. Bryan ought to know better than to regard the Booker T. Washington episode as a possible attempt on the part of President Roosevelt to establish general social equality between the races. Mr. Bryan conveys the impression that he, Bryan, professed champion of the common people and of the rights of man, would not have admitted to his table a negro of such distinguished character and service as Booker T. Washington. The less the Democrats have to say about this matter the better it will be for themselves. It is not the Republicans who are injecting the negro question into politics.

The old criticisms upon the alleged war-like spirit of the President are repeated by Mr. Bryan. He is careful, however, not to specify when and where President Roosevelt has sought to embroil the nation in strife, either foreign or domestic. The same silly charge has been brought against every strong President, including Jackson. We may remark in passing that had Jackson or Roosevelt been President in 1860, instead of Buchanan, there would have been no civil war. To-day it is recognized by intelligent lovers of peace the world over, that the personality of Theodore Roosevelt is a most powerful factor for peace. The judgment of such men as Hay, Root and Taft will carry more weight than will this baseless criticism repeated by Mr. Bryan. The most inane charge of any that have yet been brought against the President if that he is planning to succeed himself in 1908, on the ground that the uncompleted term of President McKinley is not to be counted. Mr. Bryan bases this charge on the failure of Mr. Roosevelt to pledge himself not to be a candidate for re-election in 1908.

Mr. Bryan brings forward nothing new in his discussion of the Philippine question. His contention is that American sovereignty over the Filipinos is oppression to them and a danger to American liberty. He does not explain why he advised the Democratic Senators to ratify the Treaty of Paris in 1898, thereby endorsing the act by which the Filipinos came under American sovereignty. If it is our duty to scuttle out of the Philippines now, it was our duty to have hept out in 1908.

Mr. Bryan in effect, confesses that Parker is a negative candidate. He thinks that Judge Parker may be useful in the way of extinguishing the policies of the Republican party, so preparing the way for the advent of the Bryanic Kingdom later on. This line of argument is not very flattering to Judge Parker, and if it has any effect at all, it will be in the way of alienating rather than by winning votes for the Parker ticket.

Vardaman, Heflin, D. B. Hill and our down town neighbor are making votes for the Republican ticket.

How to Retain Youth.

Middle aged and aged people can retain their youthfulness by keeping certain organs in a healthy condition In a man the liver and kidneys will cause him to look, feel and act careworn. In a woman the liver and organs peculiar to her sex will give her a careworn, sallow, wrinkled look and dragged out feelings. All this can be avoided by Thompson's Barosma. It builds up and strengthens all those functions, giving renewed youth. Thompson's Barosma retains youth. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

Why You Should Visit the World's Fair.

The principle reason why a visit should be made to this greatest of Expositions is on account of its educational value. A visit to the World's Fair is in itself a trip around the world, for fifty cents, the price of admission. The president of one of our greatest universities has said "To the bright student the Exposition is worth a thousand college lectures." The opportunity of a life-time is afforded in which to acquire, by a few days' sojourn at the Fair, an education which could not otherwise be received. Only a few weeks remain in which to take advantage of this great opportunity. Every day from now until the close of the Fair is a "special" day. The Cleveland Ladies Orchestra.

The Cleveland Ladies Orchestra, with which the Institute series of evening entertainments closed, abundantly made good its reputation as a high class musical organization. The ensemble work was most excellent giving evidence of thorough training and of the mastery of each performer of her particular instrument. While the trombone and cornet solos and the brass quartet were meritorious and gave pleasure to all as the liberal applause attested, it was when they played together that the delight of the audience was most apparent.

The audience which was a very large one was profuse in its expressions of appreciation of the efforts of Miss Collins to provide attractions of the excellence and expensiveness of this one.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Oct. 22nd, 1904.

Editor Press:—

A new turn has been given to the Democratic campaign by Senator Culberson's sensational attempt to revive the Panama issue. Mr. Culberson in a speech made recently, denounced the action of the President in recognizing the Republic of Panama and in negotiating a treaty with the new Republic, and charged that the President fomented and connived at the revolution. To support these charges Mr. Culberson exhibited a letter written by the President to Dr. Albert Shaw, in which President Roosevelt said, "Privately, I freely say to you that I should be delighted if Panama were an independent State, or if it made itself so this moment; but for me to say so publicly would amount to an instigation of a revolt, and therefore I cannot say it." Building on this letter, Culberson sought to deceive his audience into believing that the President had aided and abetted the Panama revolution, a totally unwarranted deduction from a private letter which merely showed that the sympathy of the President was with Panama rather than with Colombia.

All the circumstances connected with Columbia's treatment of the Hay-Harran treaty had been such as to deprive her of any sympathy. President Marroquin had urged Congress to ratify the treaty, but a powerful lobby had nullified his efforts. This lobby pointed out that Panama Canal Company's franchise would expire in the fall of 1904 and urged that, if Colombia could defer a definite agreement with the United States until that time, she should declare the French company's title forfeited and then demand the $40,000,000 the United States proposed to pay to the Company for the franchise, title, etc. The Congress listened to the alluring pursuasion of the lobby and lost all in grasping for more.

Despite the sneers of the partisan press that President Roosevelt was "playing politics" when, on September 23, he promised the members of the Interparliamentary Union that he would soon call another peace conference at the Hague, he has performed his promise and even now the invitations are going abroad to American Ambassadors and Ministers to be delivered to the rulers who, by their representatives, participated in the last Hague convention. It has been argued that it would be neccessary to await the establishment of peace between Japan and Russia before such a move could be made. This view is not entertained by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay. The invitations have gone forth with reasonable assurrance that they will be favorably received. The moral influence of a conventions of most of the great nations of the earth assembled to promote universal peace will, it is hoped, have its influence on the Asiatic belligerents, if they do not sooner cease their conflic; and that influence connot be had. The call for the conference may even afford them a graceful way of putting an end to hostilities. Once more the President has demonstrated that he is "a man who does things."

Minutes of Teachers' Institute.

The thirty-eighth annual session of the Cameron County Teachers' Institute, opened on Monday, October 17th, 1904, with practically a full attendance from the beginning.

At one-thirty the meeting was formally opened at the Court House by County Superintendent, Mattie M. Collins. A short prayer was offered by Rev. O. S. Metzler and Prof. Ling of Emporium, conducted the singing which followed.

The first instruction was given by Prof. Harry F. Stauffer, of Millville, N. J., formerly of this place. He reported his observations on the teaching of reading and other work in a Brooklyn school. His talk dealt with the methods employed there and practical suggestions for adopting them to ungraded schools. Talks of an introductory nature were given by Prof. J. George Becht of Clarion and Prof. Warren Darst of Ada, Ohio. Prof. Becht talked on the subject, "Right Views in Education," in which he emphasized the fact that education is a process of adjustment to our envoirment.

Tuesday's session was opened by a prayer by the Rev. J. M. Robertson. After roll call Prof. Charles S. Cornell of California, Pa., took up the work of instruction in music.

"Rational Discipline" was a subject most interestingly discussed by Prof. Becht. Instead of suggesting individual methods for the various cases of misconduct, he explained impossible it is to make one rule or principle fit all cases and urged that the teacher study the disposition of each pupil so that a remedy can be applied to each individual.

Prof. Darst gave an interesting and instructive talk on Shakespeare's "Macbeth," illustrating the development step by step, of wicked ambition and the agony of the soul as a result. It is to be regretted that Prof. Darst did not have time to treat the whole play with the thoroughness which he practiced in the first stage of the tragedy.

Prof. Stauffer continued his talk on "Observations." This one dealt with the teaching of Aritemetic in the East Orange, N. J., schools. Rapid accurate work was sought rather than method of solution in working problems, and the results showed satisfactory attainments. The progress made there was helped by special advantages which are not in reach of the common school, so the advance made by these pupils cannot be taken as a fair standard for ungraded schools.

Prof. Darst gave an experimental lecture on the subject "Stages of Growth," using devices in mensuration to illustrate how the mind grasps facts by observation, elaboration or organization and expression. He clearly showed how rules and principles may be interestingly developed by observation and simple reasoning. Likewise all knowledge must be acquired in a logical order.

Prof. Becht began a series of talks on "Applied Psychology," showing the value of this fascinating study in practical life and education, and how little tangles in discipline can be easily straightened by a keen study of human nature. The essential feature of understanding another's feelings or motives is to put one's self in the other person's place, thinking from the other's viewpoint as nearly as possible.

The Rev. Mr. McCaslin conducted the devotional services Wednesday morning and Prof. Cornell varied the work in Music by a talk on the value of musical instruction in the schools, urging that classical melodies should be as familiar to boys and girls as the common ditties.

Prof. Stauffer talked on the subject, "Primary Language Work." No instruction could be more practical or helpful to teachers and if the excellent ideas he presented are not put into practice, the children of Cameron county will miss a splendid opportunity in this line of development. Among the many good things he said, his guiding principle should be pasted in every language teacher's hat: "Work for original expression first; seek correct forms last."

Prof. Becht talked on the subject of "Devices in Teaching." He emphasized the importance of keeping the children busy and toward this end suggested various means to help the teacher accomplish this. He also gave several good devices for aiding the memory.

After the noon intermission, Prof. Cornell gave instruction in the "Elements of Music." Prof. Becht again talked on "Applied Psychology," treating the subject of Instincts. He showed how instincts, love, ambition, imitation, emulation and so forth, can be turned to good account in discipline and by working on that instinct which is predominant in the child, power to govern may be easily acquired.

Prof. Cornell favored the Institute with a solo, "Lock Lomund." For an enchore he sang, "Twenty Years Ago."

Addresses were then made by Professors Sweeny, Superintendent of Elk county and Lynch, Principal of St. Marys schools.

Prof. Darst talked on the "Tragedy of Revenge," as developed in Milton's "Paradise Lost." His treatment of this great epic brought out the sublime intensity of feeling that is characteristic of Milton, and the steps in the tragedy as recorded in the poem.

The Rev. L. B. Twichell conducted the opening exercises on Thursday morning. Prof. Cornell continued the instruction in music.

Prof. Stauffer discussed "The Teacher and his Class," giving practical advice as to the attitude of the teacher and the child in the presentation of class work. He laid stress upon the fact that the teacher should make definite preparation for each recitation.

Prof. Becht continued his instruction in "Applied Psychology," dealing with the importance of cultivating the imagination, or wonder power. Lack of imaginative power causes lack of appreciation of true beauty.

Song by the Instute was next in order and it was interesting to note the improvement that was wrought by Prof. Cornell.

Miss Maude Willis, of the Lock Haven Normal, talked on the "Teaching of Reading," as she had observed in a western school. The method was good because it brought out original expression. Miss Willis favored the Institute with a selection which was well received.

Prof. Darst spoke on the "Opportuities of the Teacher," carrying out the idea touched by Prof. Becht, namely; the importance of the development of the imaginative side of the child and bringing out individual ideas by careful study of each child.

Prof. Becht gave the "Address to Directors." There was a fair representation of them present and the interest manifested reflects credit upon the men who have charge of our schools.

Prof. Darst talked on Tennyson's "Guinevere," showing the development of the stages in tragedy of voluptuousness. The treatment was masterly and more than a passing interest in this grand poem was aroused.

Miss Willis spoke on the subject, "Interpretation." It is an old coincidence how the training of the imagination was emphasized during these sessions. Miss Willis stated that the person of greatest imaginative powers receives the greatest pleasure from a master piece. Ability to imagine the setting of a piece adds much to the enjoyment of it. Miss Willis gave a reading, entitled "King Robert of Cicily."

The Institute met at 8:30 on Friday morning and Prof. Cornell gave his final instruction. He talked on the Lives of the Great Composers and the beauty of their works.

Devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Sypher, of the Methodist church.

Prof. Darst gave his farewell talk and urged the teachers to get the children interested and then work to bring out the things that they have been endowed with. Prof. Darst has a pleasing way of speaking and everyone enjoyed his instruction.

Prof. Becht concluded this work by talking on "Habit in Education." He showed how habit lightens both the work of teacher and pupil when the best habits have been found.

Prof. Corneli next favored the Institute with a solo.

Miss Willis talked on the importance of obtaining good expression, both vocal and physical, giving as an illustration the work of Delsarte. She emphasized the fact that it is necessary for the teacher to be an example, to obtain good results.

Prof. Ling, chairman of the Committee on Courses of Reading reported the following for this year:

Art of Teaching, White. Vol. 1, Momsen's Ancient History. Glimpses of Longfellow, Miss Corson.

The following local educational meetings will be held during the coming winter: Sinnamahoning, December; Driftwood, January; Emporium, February. Exact dates will be published later.

The Committee on Resolutions presented the following which were unanimously adopted:

1. In view of the fact that the body of teachers have manifested a deep interest in the purpose of the Institute, be it resolved. That they should be appreciated for imbibing the spirit of the instructors.

2. The instructors have been whole-souled and up-to-date in their work. Be it therefore resolved, individually and collectively, that we commend them for their high standard of imparting help.

3. Resolved, That we thank Miss Collins for attentive work in the capacity as County Superintendent.

4. Resolved, That we express our thanks to the ministers, and all other friends of education who have in any way shown their good will toward the Institute, and we also return thanks for the greetings received from Potter county and Lock Haven.

5. Realizing the affliction that comes occasionally through loosing a friend, resolved, That we all join in expressing our sympathy to Superintendent Miss Collins in her recent sorrow.

Institute adjourned at 12 m., Friday, Oct. 21.

You Should Advertise.

A Kittanning grocer had 200 chickens in stock on Saturday last and advertised them for sale in a newspaper in that town. Before closing every chicken was gone and in nearly all cases the purchaser remarked: "I want one of those (or them) chickens that you advertsed."

The tremendous moving out power that advertising imparts to goods is so clearly the fact that it seems as though it should be needless to say any more about it. But not every business man yet avails himself of this necessary fulcrum by which he benefits both himself and the one who needs what he has to sell.

It has become a trifle proverb that "The people who advertise in the news papers are the ones who do the large and prosperous business."

In many thousands of instances it has been proved that the doctor who without fear or wavery—and full of a warm, bright faith goes forward in the path by the use of advertising gets there as the goal of success.

Another great thing that advertising does for a square firm, and no other kind can hope to succeed, is to create a strong confidence in the firm that advertises.

As the statements made by a firm are found to be correct and are proved by testing people realize that the fact that they are before the public day after day and are able to remain in the limelight is proof that they are worthy of confidence and patronage.—DuBois Searchlight.

MUSIC OF THE CORN.

The grand armies of peace are encamping afield,
There is no glint on the spear, no glaze on the shield,
No flashing of helmet, nor the gleaming of blade,
For the shaft of each weapon is with pearl inlaid.
Their standards are glist'ning with the dew of the dawn,
And glowing in splendor with the growing of morn,
And there's music far sweeter than the clarion horn—
'Tis the life-giving music of the rustling corn.

How stately and majestic and graceful in mien
Are the soldiers of peace in their mantle of green!
O'er the brow of each soldier waves a tall, tasseled plume—
An emblem of plenty is the straw nodding bloom.
From land of the prairies and realms of the morn
They are coming, their arms brimming with golden corn,
And there's music far sweeter than the huntsman's horn—
'Tis the life-giving music of the rustling corn.

They are marching abreast where the dim sky line dies—
The grand armies of peace, born of earth and the skies.
'Neath their ribbons and pennons there are no ugly scars—
The trophies of victories, the red ensign of wars.
Bread bearers for the nations, more fruitful than trees,
The tread of their legion is heard across the wide seas,
Keeping step to the music of Plenty's full horn—
'Tis the life-giving music of the rustling corn!

THE WIRES CROSS

By JOANNA SINGLE

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

PEGGY had a conscience; this troubled her a little. Worst still, she had a heart—no, four hearts—her own, which she had taken back from Jack Trent because she accused him of flirting with Nell Forest; Jack's, which he declared would be her's forever, though she would not allow him to explain how he came to have Nell canoeing; and the two hearts of Bobby James and Ned Browne, respectively. Peggy was sure she had forgotten Jack—almost, anyway, and that she had been right to dismiss him as she had. True, she also had flirted a little, but—one somehow expects a man to be stronger. So Peggy, her heart in her hand, vacillated between Ned and Bobby in what she thought was a sincere doubt as to which of them she should give the coveted treasure. They both wanted it; neither had exactly proposed, but Peggy was familiar with the symptoms.

Right here is where Peggy's conscience came in. Was it right to dangle them, to encourage them both, as she had done for six months, and still be no whit nearer a final choice between them? That the men knew each other—had, in fact, been chums at college—and that they were bitterly jealous of each other, made things worse. Peggy was mortally afraid that the wires would cross some time, and that they would both be angry. She wanted people to be nice and patient. She was not patient herself.

If they had not dwelt in seperate towns, one 60 miles east, and one 50 miles west of her home, Peggy would have had even more difficulty in keeping things straight.

Here it was September, and neither man knew that since May he had made alternating week-end visits to the lady's home. Each simply thought it was awfully good of her to let him come once in two weeks. Between whiles she had kept up a lively correspondence with them. They liked Peggy's gay, flirtatious letters. She enjoyed their letters immensely. They came thrice a week on the same mail. Peggy compared the letters, the photos of the men, and the men themselves. Since she had forgotten Jack, she must choose between them.

Peggy's mother calmly ignored her daughter's doings, in the hope that the girl would return to Jack, who, as the world knows, was made for Peggy. Maternal wisdom restrained Mrs. Benton from openly championing Jack; instead, she accepted Ned and Bobby with kind hospitality, and lightly veiled amusement. She refused to take them seriously.

One day while Peggy was writing, her mother asked:

"To those boys, I suppose? Which are you going to keep for a permanent plaything?" The girl was demure. She looked at the two letters she had just written, each equally provocative and alluringly coquettish.

"I don't know," she said, "I don't, really! Bobby's so blonde and lovable and chummy, and I like lawyers. But Ned's so big and dark and splendid—he could make me mind, I think. And Nell Forest semes to want him."

"That," said her mother, "should make no difference to you."

Peggy's face grew red with anger.

"The cat! I guess you'd want to get even! What did she mean by being with Jack when he said business hindered him from seeing me that night?"

"You would know, if you had let him explain."

"He didn't deserve the chance. I have forgotten him, mother."

"Evidently," said that lady dryly, and with inward rejoicing. When there is anger there is hope. She left the room saying:

"Now just put those letters in the wrong envelopes, Peggy, and you'll have things mixed badly enough to suit even you."

Peggy addressed the envelopes and gazed at them thoughtfully. She was small and brown-eyed, with golden hair, and a radiant complexion; her smile was entrancing. She picked up the letters and re-read them. Then she calmly tore them to bits.

"I've a notion to do it,' she said to herself. "Things are getting mixed. They are ready to fly off the handle—each so jealous of the other! I've got to calm them down, till I can decide which I—like."

Then she wrote to each man an honest, casual, friendly letter, with no trace of flirtation, or any sentiment beyond friendship. They were much alike. She told the news, hoped she might see each man sometime before long addressed each as "Dear Mr.——" and signed herself, "Sincerely your friend, Margaret Benton."

She deliberately but Bobby's letter into Ned's envelope, and Ned's into Bobby's. Each, she thought, would, after proper qualms, read the other man's letter, return it to her with the assurance that he had not read it, and take fresh heart from her frankly unsentimental attitude to his rival. Thus would she gain time, and peace. She sealed, stamped and mailed the letters with relief, and a little mischievous glee in her heart.

But she reckoned without her hosts. Up to a certain point her calculations were correct however: each man received the letter belonging to the other, resolved virtuously not to read it, and succumbed in the end, jubilant that the lady of his desire had evidently no love whatever for a rival; each put the letter in his pocket intending to return it, not to its owner proper, but to Peggy herself. For on the spot, each decided to run up Friday and surprise Peggy. Each decided to declare his love, and each, thanks to the letter in his pocket, was sure the other had no chance with her, and was confident of winning. They received these letters Wednesday.

About the same time Mrs. Benton wrote a note to John Burton, 100 miles north in Clayton.

"Dear Jack: I promised to write you when I thought it would do you any good to come. I think this is the time. When a girl finds it hard to choose between two men, it is ten to one she wants a third man, and doesn't know it. You are the third man, and the right one. Yesterday Peggy grew very angry when I mentioned Nell Forest. Hadn't you better explain? Do it by force if necessary; make her listen! She deserves punishment for her treatment of you. And I am so tired of having Ned and Bobby about! Sincerely yours,

"ELEANOR BENTON."

Friday came and found Peggy all unconscious of three approaching surprises. Jack Burton was speeding along on a south-bound train; Bobby from the east, and Ned from the west, were complacently approaching her, and—each other. For as fate and poor railway connections would have it, Ned had to pass Bentonville by 16 miles, and change cars at Flat Junction, where Bobby also changed cars for the city of his lady-love. The trains of both men were late; they missed connections, and met, astonished, but friendly, on the platform. It was raining in floods, and there would not be another train till morning.

They took a room together at the little place that called itself a hotel, and decided to make the best of it. Thus it befell that gradually and cautiously they compared notes. It all began by Bobby magnanimously returning Ned's letter, with the assurance that he had not read it, by Ned's astonished reciprocation of the compliment, and the perusal by each of his own letter, which he saw, with disgusted amazement, was almost the duplicate of his rival's.

Then there were explanations, and from being angry at each other, they became angry at Peggy, for the whole story came out—how each had been to see her every two weeks, and how each hoped to get her now that she had broken with Burton.

Finally they went to bed, having agreed to give her a thorough surprise. Together they would visit her, declare their love almost in unison, and make her choose between them; each was to abide by her decision, and to bear the victor no ill-will. They agreed that they had been friends too long to quarrel about a girl. But in his heart each man was sure that he would succeed.

They slept; so did Jack Burton in a Bentonville hotel; and Peggy in her dainty room at home. Saturday morning Ned and Bobby, immaculate, and not suspecting the surprise they were to spring upon themselves, sauntered out to Peggy's. They went by the back road to the old orchard. She might be there, and they could take her entirely unaware. She was there—and unaware of them with a vengeance.

As they came to a sudden turn in the winding path, they stopped and stared. Beneath an old apple tree, her sweet face upturned, was Peggy—in the arms of John Burton! Her pretty laugh rippled out.

"It's all right about Nell, dear. Of course you couldn't refuse when she asked you to take her! She's so bold! And the man didn't come on that business? I was so silly. I'm—sorry Jack.' Here Jack asked a new question, accompanied by a kiss.

"Those silly boys? Of course not! I never loved anyone but you."

Jack kissed her again. "Not for one little moment," she continued. Ned and Bobby felt that she spoke the truth. They turned unseen, and went as they came.

"I think we can catch that noon train," Ned observed dryly. But Bobby asked solmenly:

"Ned, will you please kick me?" Then the two men laughed.

The schools of vice are seldom recruited from the homes where the boys are treated as companions.

SUSPENSION OF HOSTILITIES.

Tokio, Oct. 20.—The Japanese government has decided to draw the attention of the Russian government to the unlawful action of Russian troops in using Chinese costumes. The notice will be served through the American state department, which will transmit it through the American embassy at St. Petersburg. A memorandum issued by the foreign office says that on October 4 a body of infantry belonging to a Russian regiment of sharpshooters, wearing Chinese costumes, attacked the Japaneses forces onn the Mukden road and that Russians similarly clad approached the Japanese lines and attempted surprises. Different reports received, it is charged, indicate that the Russians are purchasing enormous quantities of Chinese costumes.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—For the moment heavy rains and impassable roads have compelled a suspension of operations in Manchuria. There was practically no fighting yesterday and none whatever last night.

Veiled hints continue to arrive that the Russians have recovered from the blow inflicted last week by Field Marshal Oyama and that Gen. Kuropatkin is preparing to renew the struggle as soon as the roads become dry.

The enforced cessation of operations by the bad weather gives both armies a chance to breathe and pull themselves together and would seem to ensure as much benefit to one side as the other. When operations recommence they will assume an entirely new phase.

RUSSIAN SHIPS DAMAGED.

Mukden, Oct. 21.—The hostile armies yesterday were concealed from view of each other by a dense fog, in which it was impossible to make out objects at a distance of 100 paces. Under such conditions only unimportant operations are possible, such as surprises and ambushes.

Che Foo, Oct. 21.—The most important recent events at Port Arthur include the capture by the Japanese of further minor positions near Rihlung mountain and the severe damage of a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer by striking a floating mine.

According to Chinese advices which reached here Thursday and which are confirmed by Japanese letters from Port Dalny, the Japanese made assaults on the remaining outer works of Rihlung mountain at dawn October 8 and were repulsed. The following day the Russians made an attack on the Japanese trenches and they in turn were repulsed. The Japanese immediately followed with another assault, resulting in the capture of an iron railroad bridge and the heights south of the bridge, which is 500 yards from the main fortress.

At 10 o'clock in the morning of October 12 seven Russian torpedo boat destroyers emerged from the harbor of Port Arthur and later they were followed by two more destroyers. This squadron proceeded to Shaopingtau and bombarded the Japanese left flank. Four Japanese torpedo boat destroyers hurried to the scene and the Russians retired to the harbor, followed by the Japanese. The pursuit ceased upon entering the mined area. One Japanese destroyer while returning hit a mine and was severely damaged.

Meanwhile the Japanese siege guns continued to drop big shells in the harbor, the Japanese claiming that they damaged the Russian gunboat Giliak, which is alleged to have been hit three times. It is also believed that the funnel of another Russian warship was pierced.

WARRIORS ARE RESTING.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 22.—The rival armies of Russia and Japan entrenched a short distance from each other south of the Shakhe river are forced to continued inactivity until the fine weather now prevailing dries the sodden ground and the tired warriors are sufficiently rested to resume operations.

A dispatch from Mukden reports that the Russians yesterday confined themselves to a bombardment of Shakhe Station and the adjoining village of Lamatung, the Japanese feebly responding.

Russian correspondents report that some regiments of the Fifth Siberian corps have been engaged in slight skirmishes on the advance line the past few days. The fact that the First and Fifth Siberian were the only corps hitherto unmentioned in reports of the fighting on October 19 shows that Gen. Kuropatkin has sent the reserves to the trenches, giving other much tired corps a thorough rest. Meanwhile the Cossacks are raiding the Japanese lines.

Che Foo, Oct. 22.—News from Port Arthur brought to Che Foo by a junk which left there October 19 says a fierce bombardment which began October 16 was still progressing without interruption. Many buildings had been damaged and ships in the harbor had also been hit by shells, but the extent of the damages are not stated. The Japanese have placed guns of a large caliber on Iunjida mountain. The Russians continue making sorties successfully and inflicting heavy losses on the besiegers, whose losses since the commencement of the siege are said to have been 50,000.

Robber Shot Himself.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 22.—A daring attempt was made Friday to rob the J. S. Mundy machine works. The thief succeeded in carrying off several packages of money amounting to $1,271, but was pursued and caught. Just as his pursuers reached him he placed a revolver at his head and fired twice, inflicting probably mortal wounds. Previously he had fired at but missed his pursuers. Before he lost consciousness he said his name was James Wilson and that he had no home. The packages containing the money were found in his coat pocket

WHAT ONE OF THE SEX DISCOVERED TO HER GREAT JOY.

Mrs. De Long Finds that the Indescribable Pains of Rheumatism Can be Cured Through the Blood.

Mrs. E. M. De Long, of No. 160 West Broadway, Council Bluffs, Iowa, found herself suddenly attacked by rheumatism in the winter of 1896. She gave the doctor a chance to help her, which he failed to improve, and then she did some thinking and experimenting of her own. She was so successful that she deems it her duty to tell the story of her escape from suffering:

"My brother-in-law," she says, "was enthusiastic on the subject of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a purifier of the blood, and when I was suffering extreme pains in the joints of my ankles, knees, hips, wrists and elbows, and the doctor was giving me no relief, I began to reflect that rheumatism is a disease of the blood and that, if Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are so good for the blood, they must be good for rheumatism and worth a trial.

"I was in bed half the time, suffering with pains that cannot be described to one who has never had the disease. It would concentrate sometimes in one set of joints. When it was in my feet I could not walk, when it was in my elbows and wrists I could not even draw the coverlets over my body. I had suffered in this way for weeks before I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Two weeks after I began with them I experienced relief and after I had taken six boxes I was entirely well. To make sure I continued to use them about two weeks longer and then stopped altogether. For several years I have had no reason to use them for myself, but I have recommended them to others as an excellent remedy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills furnish the blood with all the elements that are needed to build up healthy tissue, strong muscles and nerves, capable of bearing the strain that nature puts upon them. They really make new blood and cure all diseases arising from disorders of the blood or nerves, such as sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, nervous prostration, anæmia and all forms of weakness in either male or female. They are sold by all druggists.

RAISE ENORMOUS PUMPKINS.

Thirty of Them, Grown by Pennsylvania Gardener, Weigh Nearly Four Hundred Pounds.

All feats in pumpkin raising have been surpassed by John Weir, who owns a small garden in the farm of the Philadelphia Vacant Lots association, in Philadelphia. Several weeks ago Weir threw some pumpkin seeds on a steep embankment which borders his farm.

There were signs of miniature pumpkins on his vine, and to prevent them from interfering with his other vegetables he threw the vine over the top of a tree. Then he forgot all about the pumpkin vine. He was startled one day to see pumpkins appearing among the foliage of the tree. There was a big bunch of them, big and heavy, and they were bearing heavily upon the branches of the tree.

In order that they might thrive in comfort Weir built a shelf under each pumpkin and they grew bigger and stronger until then encircled the entire tree. All together they were 30 of them, weighing collectively, 350 pounds. They are now getting ready to appear in a large aggregation of pumpkin pies.

Color of Adam and Eve.

A dispute has arisen whether Adam and Eve were not colored. The burden of all obtaining testimony is that they undoubtedly were, remarks the Buffalo Express. They were green when the serpent led them astray, but they turned blue when cast out of Paradise.

SAFEST FOOD

In Any Time of Trouble Is Grape-Nuts

Food to rebuild the strength and that is pre digested must be selected when one is convalescent. At this time there is nothing so valuable as Grape-Nuts for the reason that this food is all nourishment and is also all digestible nourishment. A woman who used it says:

"Some time ago I was very ill with typhoid fever, so ill everyone thought I would die, even myself. It left me so weak I could not properly digest food of any kind and I also had much bowel trouble which left me a weak, helpless wreck.

"I needed nourishment as badly as anyone could, but none of the tonics helped me until I finally tried Grape-Nuts food morning and evening. This not only supplied food that I thought delicious as could be but it also made me perfectly well and strong again so I can do all my housework, sleep well, can eat anything without any trace of bowel trouble and for that reason alone Grape-Nuts food is worth its weight in gold." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Typhoid fever like some other diseases attacks the bowels and frequently sets up bleeding and makes them for months incapable of digesting the starches and therefore pre digested Grape-Nuts is invaluable for the well-known reason that in Grape-Nuts all the starches have been transformed into grape sugar. This means that the first stage of digestion has been mechanically accomplished in Grape-Nuts food at the factories and therefore anyone, no matter how weak the stomach, can handle it and grow strong, for all the nourishment is still there.

There's a sound reason and 10 days trial proves.

HOW SOIL IS STERILIZED.

New Jersey Expert Describes a Method Especially Adapted for Small Operations.

Sterilizing the soil was done by having a steam coil made by a plumber. Mine was made as follows: Five runs nine feet long made of 1¼-inch pipe. These were drilled every five inches with 5-16 drill, turning the pipe quarter way around every time drill was set, and drilled holes all way through. This turning of the pipes makes holes at right angles to each other. These five pipes were then threaded and screwed into crossheads (1½-inch pipes for heads) at either end, using right-hand nipples on one end and left-hand on the other; these five pipes were placed one foot apart, making the whole apparatus four feet wide and nearly ten feet long when finished. See cut. In the center at one end a connection is made with three-quarter inch pipe to admit steam. This connection may seem small, but it worked all right, and will give a ten-horse power boiler a great hustle to keep it going for over two hours. Next in order is a good eight or ten-horse power boiler, also a box sufficiently large to be ten inches clear of pipe on all sides and two feet deep. This should not be termed a box, although it is box-shaped. Floor should be independent, sides and ends also, so it can be removed with less labor. Fill half full of soil to be sterilized, lay on your pipe coil, and cover with strips of burlap to keep perforations from becoming clogged. Now fill box full of soil, cover with canvas or a tight board cover, and weight down. Make connection with good hose from boiler to coil, fire up till you have not less than 40 pounds pressure, and keep it there till finished if possible. This operation will require nearly or quite 2½ hours. It should be kept steadily heating till all soil in the inclosure, corners, ends and every particle, is heated to over 200 degrees, and when this has been reached for a short time, say ten or fifteen minutes, I will guarantee that about everything in it is cooked, even to one's finger nails, should you attempt to try it that way. I know, for I have been there. Soil treated to this process must be, and is absolutely pure; free from all foul seeds, insects and germs. There may be other and even better ways of doing this work, but this was the way I did it, and it works well for small operations.—C. C. Hulsart, in Rural New Yorker.

PLAN FOR STERILIZING SOIL.

OHIO FARMER'S PROTEST.

He Deplores Improper Use of Road Graders and Tells How Trouble May Be Avoided.

Road scrapers or graders are like many other good things; used in the proper manner they are all right, but when used improperly they are unmitigated nuisances. Two weeks ago, taking a drive into a neighboring county, I chanced to drive over a road that was the cause of this article; it was what is known in our part of the state as a mud road, i e., one that has never been piked, just graded by poll tax and regular road tax and then a narrow coat of gravel put on, a little at a time, from year to year, until in the course of time it is all graveled. But by the time the last is graveled the first is worn out.

Now, on a road like the above some officer who had the authority to do so took a road scraper and went over the road, keeping the outside edge of the scraper at the line made by the meeting of the gravel and sod alongside the gravel on each side of the center of the gravel or grade, thus cutting the roadway from two to six inches lower at the edge than the sod along the edge.

Not only is the road mad unpleasant to drive over, but there is a channel or gutter cut immediately at each edge of the gravel, which at each succeeding rain will widen and deepen and in the course of a few weeks or months badly injure the road and grade.

Some may say, what must a road superintendent do in a case like that if not use a scraper? That is very easy to answer. Take a very heavy roller and roll the road several times, going on each side of the center of the grade, leaving it slightly higher than the sides, thus making a water shed like a roof, so the water will run off on each side into the side ditch at once instead of running along the top of the road for perhaps 200 or 300 yards until it finds an outlet to the side ditch; of course the rolling will have to be done when the ground is soft, at least soft enough for the roller to press the ridges down. I think the government should publish books and plans on road making and compel road superintendents to study them and follow their instructions; then we would have substantial roads built and repaired in a uniform way and no costly mistakes to pay for.—J. S. Hill, in Ohio Farmer.

WAS A NAIVE COMPLIMENT.

Musician Played So Well That the Congregation Wouldn't Be Dismissed.

"Reginald De Koven was touring the country with one of his operas," said a New York musician, "and a certain Sunday found him in the town of Dayton.

"They told Mr. De Koven that an Episcopal church in the neighborhood had a superb organ. Accordingly he went to that church, ascended to the organ loft, and sat beside the organist during the morning's service.

"'You seem to know something about music,' said the organist in a condescending way. 'I'll let you dismiss the congregation if you'd like.'

"'Why, yes,' said De Koven, 'I would like that very much.'

"Accordingly, at the end of the recessional, he exchanged places with the organist and began to play Mendelssohn's 'Spring Song.' He played beautifully. The Dayton people, enthralled by the wonderful music, refused to depart. They sat in rapt enjoyment, and after the 'Spring Song' was finished Mr. De Koven began Chopin's 'Funeral March.'

"Suddenly a heavy hand was laid on his shoulder and he was pushed off the music stool.

"'You can't dismiss a congregation,' said the organist, impatiently. 'Watch and see how soon I'll get them out.'"

GOING TO STAY YOUNG.

Even Government Inspectors Couldn't Make Her Older Than She Looked.

A Brooklyn woman lately returned from Europe was describing to her husband who had remained at home her experiences with the customs inspectors who had taken her declaration in the cabin of the liner coming up the bay, relates the Brooklyn Eagle.

"When he asked me my age," she said, "I told him 30."

"But, my dear," exclaimed the husband, "you're over 30."

"I know it," she returned, "but do I look more?"

"No, you don't; that's a fact."

"Well," she concluded, triumphantly, convinced that mere man was squelched once more by the force of feminine logic, "until I look more than 30 I'm going to be 30, and I don't care for the old United States government and all its customs inspectors and declarations. They can't make me older than I look or want to be."

Perfectly Simple.

Trying to give an idea of the size of a molecule, Dr. W. Marshall Watts says that if a drop of water were enlarged to the dimensions of the earth its molecules would look like a heap of 9,556,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 tennis balls. If all scientific facts can only be reduced to sporting terms this way, the general understanding of the wonders of nature will be tremendously increased.—Boston Transcript.

Long Way Round.

A new word has been introduced into the Flemish language. It is Snellpaardeloos-zoondeerspoorwegpetrolirijuig. The etymology is: "Snell," rapid; "paardeloos," horseless; "zeendeerspoorweg," without rails; "petrolirijtuig," driven by petroleum. The whole word, as can be easily seen, means motor car.—Detroit Free Press.

Maps.

Robert Louis Stevenson, one of the most notable English writers known to the present generation, was wont to say that nothing interested him more than the perusal of a good map; and without doubt, a map that is well made and accurate catches the eye and arrests the attention of many people as few other things can do.

The men in charge of railway traffic possess a most positive appreciation of this fact and a large expenditure of time and skillful thought is made on this feature of railway publicity, so that such portions of the country as the Black Hills in South Dakota, the wonderful mountain ranges compactly rising tier upon tier throughout the central and western portion of Colorado, the rich valleys and hillsides of California, covered with vineyards, orchards and grain fields, Yellowstone Park, the Yosemite, Alaska, and those regions of interlacing lakes and water courses which mark that portion of the great northwest located in upper Wisconsin, southern Minnesota and that part of Michigan known as the Upper Peninsula, have been mapped in detail and given to the public gratis, far and wide.

Said an official of the Chicago & North-Western Railway recently: "The American railway map engraver has carried his art well-nigh to the borders of perfection. I do not know of any road maps or other detailed data for the state of Wisconsin, for instance, that equal those published by our passenger department, showing the haunts of summer tourists and fishermen. They are on file in public libraries as part of their reference records. Other portions of the western country have been similarly taken up and maps of a most complete character made for them; in fact, the western lines are fully alive to the value of a good map in the hands of the traveler. The map publishing business of the large railway systems is to-day reduced to scientific principles and handled in a most systematic manner. The North-Western Line prints thousands of maps, running all the way from large wall maps of the world, down to the smallest details of sections and quarter sections of Government land open for settlement in the west, and from an atlas containing a series of maps of the seat of war in the far east to the most carefully worked out portrayal of Colorado's mountain regions, California's winter resorts, or the summering places that abound along the line throughout the west and northwest."

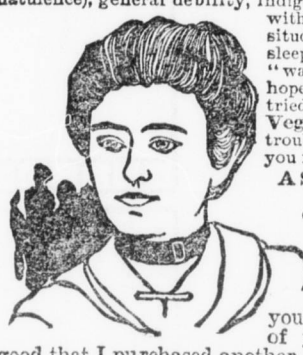
A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me.

"Better health is all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and easy.

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—MRS. B. A. BLANCHARD, 422 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.



A Severe Case of Womb Trouble Cured in Philadelphia.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been cured of severe female troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was nearly ready to give up, but seeing your advertisement I purchased one bottle of your medicine, and it did me so much good that I purchased another, and the result was so satisfactory that I bought six more bottles, and am now feeling like a new woman. I shall never be without it. I hope that my testimonial will convince women that your Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine in the world for falling of the womb or any other female complaints."—MRS.
